

All about Couronne

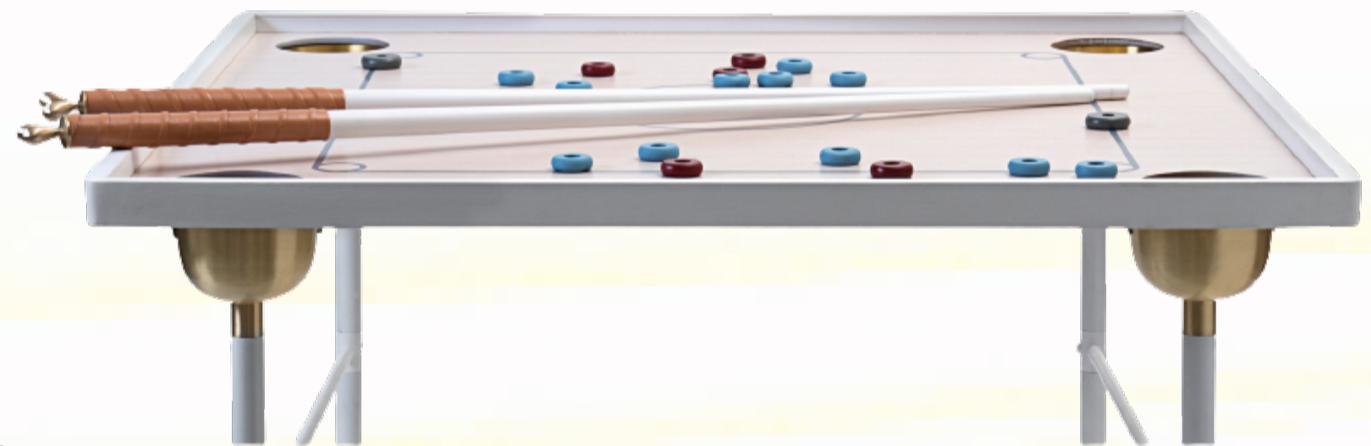

Rules

The goal of the game

As in billiards, it's about getting all your own balls down, but in this game it's about your own rings.

Lay out the red and yellow rings in the circle in the center of the game board. Then form two teams (for more than 2 players) and choose the color of the rings and the associated queue. Then give each player a black push ring.

Read more here...

Story

Couronne, or coron, also called corona [1] is a variant of the board game that is believed to have originated in Asia or Africa.

The game is played by two to four players who are divided into two teams. Each team must try to hit their fifteen rings into the holes on the game board. Queues and special bumps are used for this. The team that gets their rings down first wins. [

In the 1930s, the Swedish Couronne Championship was held at Nordiska Kompaniet's department store in Stockholm.

Read more here...

Rules

The goal of the game

As in billiards, it's about getting all your own balls down, but in this game it's about your own rings.

Preparations and layout

Lay out the red and yellow rings in the circle in the center of the game board. Then form two teams (for more than 2 players) and choose the color of the rings and the associated queue. Then give each player a black push ring.

The course of the game

The yellow players start by striking their impact rings against the rings in the middle of the circle. Then the turn goes to the red team. You always push from the edge of the rim and you can push the rings into any corner compartment.

General rules and penalties

When you get a ring in your own color, you get an extra hit.

When you get a ring in the opponent's suit, the turn goes to the other team.

If a ring skips the rim, place the ring back in the small circle closest to the corner where the ring skipped.

 Story

The goal of the game

As in billiards, it's about getting all your own balls down, but in this game it's about your own rings.

Preparations and layout

Lay out the red and yellow rings in the circle in the center of the game board. Then form two teams (for more than 2 players) and choose the color of the rings and the associated queue. Then give each player a black push ring.

The course of the game

The yellow players start by striking their impact rings against the rings in the middle of the circle. Then the turn goes to the red team. You always push from the edge of the rim and you can push the rings into any corner compartment.

General rules and penalties

When you get a ring in your own color, you get an extra hit.

When you get a ring in the opponent's suit, the turn goes to the other team.

If a ring skips the rim, place the ring back in the small circle closest to the corner where the ring skipped.

All about Couronne

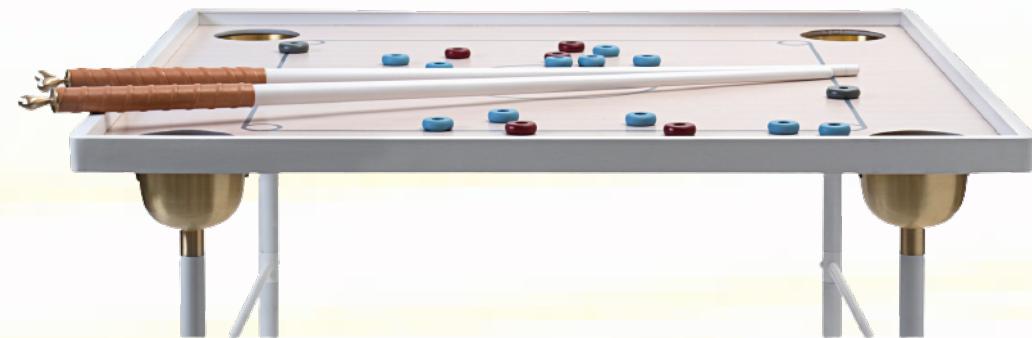

Rules

The goal of the game

As in billiards, it's about getting all your own balls down, but in this game it's about your own rings.

Lay out the red and yellow rings in the circle in the center of the game board. Then form two teams (for more than 2 players) and choose the color of the rings and the associated queue. Then give each player a black push ring.

Read more here...

Story

Couronne, or coron, also called corona [1] is a variant of the board game that is believed to have originated in Asia or Africa. [2]

The game is played by two to four players who are divided into two teams. Each team must try to hit their fifteen rings into the holes on the game board. Queues and special bumps are used for this. The team that gets their rings down first wins. [2]

Rules

The goal of the game

As in billiards, it's about getting all your own balls down, but in this game it's about your own rings.

Lay out the red and yellow rings in the circle in the center of the game board. Then form two teams (for more than 2 p

The course of the game

The yellow players start by striking their impact rings against the rings in the middle of the circle. Then the turn goes to the red team. You always push from the edge of the rim and you can push the rings into any corner compartment.

General rules and penalties

When you get a ring in your own color, you get an extra hit.

When you get a ring in the opponent's suit, the turn goes to the other team.

If a ring skips the rim, place the ring back in the small circle closest to the corner where the ring skipped.

Story

Couronne, or coron, also called corona [1] is a variant of the board game that is believed to have originated in Asia or Africa. [2]

The game is played by two to four players who are divided into two teams. Each team must try to hit their fifteen rings into the holes on the game board. Queues and special bumps are used for this. The team that gets their rings down first wins. [2]

The course of the game

The yellow players start by striking their impact rings against the rings in the middle of the circle. Then the turn goes to the red team. You always push from the edge of the rim and you can push the rings into any corner compartment.

General rules and penalties

When you get a ring in your own color, you get an extra hit.

When you get a ring in the opponent's suit, the turn goes to the other team.

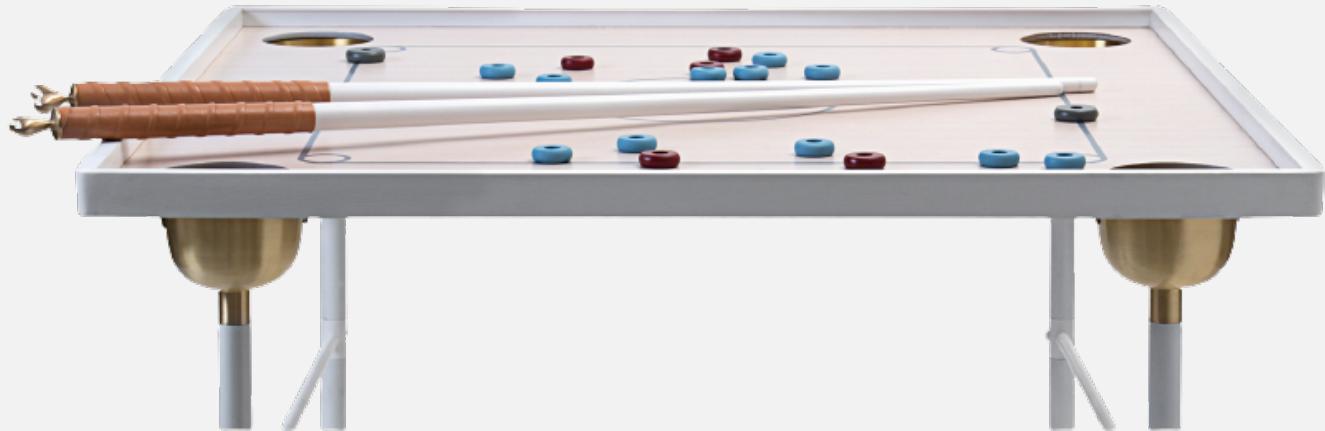

Home Rules Story

⚖️ Rules

The goal of the game

As in billiards, it's about getting all your own balls down, but in this game it's about your own rings.

Read more here...

⟳ Story

Couronne, or coron, also called corona [1]

is a variant of the board game that is believed to have originated in Asia or Africa

Home Rules Story

Rules

The goal of the game

As in billiards, it's about getting all your own balls down, but in this game it's about your own rings.

Lay out the red and yellow rings in the circle in the center of the board and choose the ring

Couronne, or coron, also called corona [1]

is a variant of the board game that is believed to have originated in Asia or Africa

The course of the game

The yellow players start by striking their impact rings against the rings in the middle of the

Home Rules Story

Story

The goal of the game

As in billiards, it's about getting all your own balls down, but in this game it's about your own rings.

Lay out the red and yellow rings in the circle in the center of the board and choose the ring.

Couronne, or coron, also called corona [1]

is a variant of the board game that is believed to have originated in Asia or Africa

The course of the game

The yellow players start by striking their impact rings against the rings in the middle of the